

RISINGSON

Rising Moto-2 rider, Takaaki Nakagami's helmet design defies conventional racer replica trends and leans more towards a traditional style with rich colors and textures along with some in-depth 3 dimensional accents. The striking color combination and traditional design compliment almost any combinations of bike and gear. The new Nakagami is available on the Corsair-V, for the rider who is looking for the race inspired features and benefits it offers, but who is not necessarily looking for the "over the top" designs normally found on a racer replica.
