

MIDNIGHT IN PARADISE

While there may have been floral designs in the past, the new Tropic succeeds where others failed. It's not clear which is more striking, the black base or the frost finish, but either way the combination of the two present the tropical floral pattern in such a way as to make this arguably the best design of its kind. For those not familiar with Arai's unique Frost finish, offering a matte finish but with a hint of shimmering texture, it is important to note that both the in person look and feel of this proprietary finish is nothing short of impressive. If you like the design from the photo, you owe it to yourself to see one in person, as we are certain your impression will only grow stronger.
